

Donts for Cricketers

Donts for Husbands and Donts for Wives were republished by A&C Black in 2007 and have sold more than one million copies to date. Donts for Cricketers was originally printed in 1906 and contains hundreds of snippets of entertaining, timeless and amusing advice for cricketers of all abilities. The advice, ranging from technique and equipment to etiquette on the field, provides an entertaining snapshot of life in early twentieth-century Britain. On batting mentality: Dont be in two minds about how you are going to play the ball, for that way madness lies. On batting technique: Dont fail to keep the ball down in driving, for you run great risk of being caught. Of course, the high drive is an extremely pretty stroke. On bowling mentality: Dont be sulky or sad if your bowling is punished or your captain takes you off bowling when you want to continue. On bowling technique: Dont bend your elbow; it is not pleasant to be called for throwing when you are bowling in a match. On fielding: Dont forget the old story of the famous cricketer who scored 125 for the Gentlemen of England, but dropped so many catches that at the end of the day he was adjudged to owe his side 95 runs! On the essence of the game: Dont forget the motto of that famous old cricket club, I Zingari: Keep your promise, keep your temper, keep your wicket up.
