

US Army Mine/Countermine

Field Manual (FM) provides United States (US) armed forces with tactical, technical, and procedural guidance for conducting mine and countermine operations. It applies to all elements of the combined arms team for maneuver and engineer staff planning and coordination. The manual is presented in three parts: mine operations, counteroperations, and special-mining operations. The guidance provided focuses on individual skills of emplacing and removing mines, team and squad tasks, platoon and company organization and planning, and battalion/task force (TF) organization and coordination for successful obstacle reduction and breaching operations. Land-based mines and munitions are hand-emplaced, remote-delivered, ground-delivered, or air-delivered: Hand-emplaced mines and munitions require manual arming and are labor-, resource-, and transport-intensive. Remote- and air-delivered mines and munitions require less time and labor; however, they are not as precisely placed as handemplaced mines.
