

The Cricket on the Hearth: A Christmas Book (classic english literature)

Classic from the year 2008 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies - Literature, , course: -, - entries in the bibliography, language: English, abstract: The kettle began it! Dont tell me what Mrs. Peerybingle said. I know better. Mrs. Peerybingle may leave it on record to the end of time that she couldnt say which of them began it; but, I say the kettle did. I ought to know, I hope! The kettle began it, full five minutes by the little waxfaced Dutch clock in the corner, before the Cricket uttered a chirp. As if the clock hadnt finished striking, and the convulsive little Haymaker at the top of it, jerking away right and left with a scythe in front of a Moorish Palace, hadnt mowed down half an acre of imaginary grass before the Cricket joined in at all! Why, I am not naturally positive. Every one knows that. I wouldnt set my own opinion against the opinion of Mrs. Peerybingle, unless I were quite sure, on any account whatever. Nothing should induce me. But, this is a question of act. And the fact is, that the kettle began it, at least five minutes before the Cricket gave any sign of being in existence. Contradict me, and Ill say ten. Let me narrate exactly how it happened. I should have proceeded to do so in my very first word, but for this plain considerationif I am to tell a story I must begin at the beginning; and how is it possible to begin at the beginning, without beginning at the kettle? It appeared as if there were a sort of match, or trial of skill, you must understand, between the kettle and the Cricket. And this is what led to it, and how it came about. [...]
