

The Gettysburg Knapsack: A Souvenir of Useful Information for Veterans, Patriots, Tourists, and the Great Army of Generous Youth (Classic Reprint)

Ask lora uuide and insist upon having one who is well known and reliable. (I twould be well for ;ill to do this, a word to the wise, etc., etc.)PRESS NOTES AND PERSONAL CRITIQUES. Those who have occasion to visit the battlefield of Gettysburg should secure the services of Luther W. Minnigh, the battlefield guide and lecturer and author of (iettysluirg What They Did Here. Mr. Minnigh was born on the ground covered by the battlefield, was brought up and educated at Gettysburg, traversed the grounds daily for weeks after the battle, has devoted jears to a study of the engagements, and is a thorough iriasterof the whole subject. His descriptions of it are vivid and eloquent and free from the mannerisms of the ordinary guide. His study of the field has been supplemented by information received from numerous heroes of the great battle, whom he has accomyanied in their visits to the scene of their exploits. Mr. Minnigh saddress is 16 W. Middle St., or Lock Box 131, Gettysburg, Pa. Army and Navy Journal. Guide Minnigh has the true story of Gettysburg, and tells it with thrilling accuracy. General H. W. Slocum. Your descriptions are certainly the most accurate that I have ever had the pleasure of hearing. John B. Bachelder, The Historian of Gettysburg. Your descriptions are connected and graphic, free from irrelevant matter andentirely and singularly accurate. General S. Wylie Crawford. You have a very clear and vivid conception of the battle of Gettysburg, and of the movements of the troops throughout the entire engagement. Your statements are exceedingly accurate. General A. P. Martin. Mr. Minnigh sconcise, lucid and graphic descriptions of the battle afforded verbal but vivid eye-pictures of the struggle. New York Home Journal. Guide Minnigh sstory of the battle was so graphic that we could almost see it. It was an object lesson in history, worth more than to
